" We didn't realise we had this much duplicated data. Once we did, we used ControlPoint to clean it up and identify our high risk and high value information for us."

User Feedback

An advanced file analysis tool facilitating information governance for connected data sources, ControlPoint simplifies the definition and application of policy, regardless of data format or location.

There is no need for source-specific policies, which become difficult to manage and unify across the enterprise, and no need for staff to learn multiple system tools or user interfaces.
